WE SUPPORT

The Sustainability Opportunity

Across governments, businesses, and financial institutions, there is global consensus that environmental, social, and governance (ESG) risk is now an investment risk - with actions to protect the environment and society, as well as stronger governance over these areas being critical to our future. Meanwhile, 73% of executives also view ESG investment as a 'revenue enabler' that is good for business.

ESG reporting is now a high-stakes business imperative, yet implementing real-world models for governance is just beginning for many organizations. It is becoming increasingly expected, or required by law, that organisations produce ESG performance reports that adhere to finance-grade standards. Companies need these to be fully auditable, exhibit comparability across different periods, and be officially approved by a corporate officer. Achieving this is daunting for companies. Most firms lack the necessary ESG reporting frameworks, processes, metrics, and integrated data streams to produce such adequate, well-supported, and meaningful documentation to set them on their paths towards compliance or net zero. We help you achieve these outcomes.

Begin Your Sustainability Journey

ESG advisory

We provide customized advisory on ESG environments across Asian markets, assisting clients in developing their global strategies, together with local execution.

This approach ensures alignment with international standards and effective management of environmental, social, and governance factors tailored to specific regional contexts.

Emissions management

Taking an ERP view of carbon use at each step of your supply chain, target areas for the greatest carbon reduction opportunities and tracking the transformation's progress in your organization.

ESG reporting

Build plans to assess and report your greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions and carbon footprint, based on GHG protocol, embodied carbon, avoided emissions, and methane tracking.

Decarbonisation pathways

Develop optimized routes to review the cost efficiency of the energy and resources consumed in manufacturing and other areas and leverage new sources to create emission-free and waste-free plants.

Risk & resilience management

Risk and resilience management involves the identification and evaluation of potential disruptive events and evolving circumstances. We assess risks and opportunities to integrate sustainability into the heart of operations and strategic decision-making, fostering efficient mitigation and adaptation to the everchanging business environment for sustained long-term success.

We help clients through each stage of their strategic ESG lifecycle:

An assessment to kick-start their ESG journey

Craft a winning ESG strategy to provide recommendations

Implement an ESG reporting system to meet regulatory requirements and reduce carbon emissions

Data cleansing, formatting, presentation, and input query

Support for platform training and emission factors
